

ASSOCIATION OF COMMUNICATION SCHOLARS
& PROFESSIONALS OF NIGERIA

2019 ACSPN South West Empowerment Series
MAY 28, 2019

Venue: Elizade University, Ilara-Mokin, Ondo State.

Voices

“The lecture was enlightening and educative, and I got to know about qualitative research in communication and media studies and most importantly, the lecture/message has taught me how to carry out research in future.”

Robinson Pondo Christiana – Student, Department of Mass Communication, Elizade University

“The lecture was successful in addressing the challenges of qualitative research in communication and being a final year student it has aided in encouraging ideas that will require qualitative research.”

PAM Pamela Chungung – Student, Department of Mass Communication, Elizade University

“I commend ACSPN for organising this training event. I solicit for regular trainings like this and I want information about this series circulated in the future. I wish to attend more of this.”

Olarotimi Busayo Anthony - Adekunle Ajasin University

“Very educative. I am happy I attended.”

Okoye Innocent, Afe Babalola University.

“This is really an empowering programme to ignite the giant in young academic and students. There is need for more of programmes of this nature across institutions in Nigeria.”

Folorunsho Olutobi – The Polytechnic Igbo-Owu, Kwara State.

“This programme is perfectly educative, my kind appreciation to ACSPN South west zone. And to the guest speaker, Prof Ayo Ojebode, for the good analysis of the challenges of qualitative research in media and communication studies professionalism.”

Abidde Ebiakpoabowei Edmond, Elizade University.

“Programme was timely, detailed and to the point. Speaker paid attention to body language.”

David Hannafu Choji – Elizade University.

“Organised. Theme is relevant. Presentation is simple but very enlightening.”

Bodundo Ikeola Josephine – Afe Babalola University.

“The idea behind the programme is laudable. The topic of discussion is apt and very relevant to our discipline. The attendance is not encouraging especially from teachers of communication. I think we need more publicity and mobilisation since we have a good number of mass communication departments around.”

R.O Abimbola – Adekunle Ajasin University.

“The programme was worthwhile. It throws light on the problems associated with qualitative messages.”

Adaja Alex – Joseph Ayo Babalola University.

“Inspiring, awesomely delivered.”

Solanke Abdulwarees – Voice of Nigeria

“This programme gives more details about research and how best to research on anything. It gives more knowledge on research most especially for students or people who want to do research. I learnt a lot of things about research, observation. It educates on how to arrange or set up questionnaires which will give more details about what you want to know. This programme is a good one and I will love more of it because it educates student and staff more about communication.

Eniola Precious, Olajide – Student, Elizade University.

“This programme is educative, informative and I learnt a lot - like how to research, the observation process, because as a human being not only for a communication student, you need to be observant of things, places, animals and persons around you. Thank you so much for this wonderful lecture. God bless you sir.”

Ifedolapo Mercy, Fakoya – Student, Elizade University.

“The programme educates, informs and entertains. This programme is very interesting, especially our host Prof. Ayo Ojebode who was made it so lively for us to understand it very well. I have actually learnt a lot especially in the area of research. Concerning my course I have learnt a lot and I am ready to put it into writing.”

Nzeribe Somkenechukwu – Student, Elizade University.

“Fantastic, Instructive, Educative and Transformative.”

J. A. Macaulay – Staff, Elizade University.

“This is a good, educative and instructive discourse that needs to be carried out regularly so the world of media operatives could be highly improved and our news could also be reliable and dependable both locally and internationally.”

Oluwasola Olalekanmi Ogunyebi – Elizade University.

“The programme is mind blowing and it is the programme we will need to teach us about how to use media for research. This is a programme that touches all areas and beyond.”

Eric Tombra Batife – Student, Elizade University.