

ASSOCIATION OF COMMUNICATION SCHOLARS
& PROFESSIONALS OF NIGERIA

2019 ACSPN CONFERENCE

September 4-5th, 2019

Voices

“The conference as a whole was well organised and coordinated, but there is still room for improvement. The committee should be proactive in terms of planning and arrangement.”

Dr. Sunday Ogbonna – Lecturer, Caleb University, Imota

“Well planned and organised. They started behind schedule but it was still great.”

Dr. Funmi Alakija – Lecturer, Moshood Abiola Polytechnic, Abeokuta

“Great organisation but more time be given to paper presentations is key to the conference.”

Dr. Gabriel T. Nyitse – Lecturer, Bingham University, Karu

“The conference has been an exciting, educating, informative and insightful event.”

Khadijah Temitope Yusuf - PhD Candidate, Lagos State University

“Well organised but next time more time should be given to paper presentations and enough time for roundtable discussion.”

Adenike Omotayo Okeya - Lecturer, Ajayi Crowther University, Oyo

"My first time of attending and I am impressed with all aspects of the organisation and packaging."

Dr. Joseph N. Chukwu - Lecturer, Alex Ekwueme Federal University Ndufu-Alike Ebonyi State.

"Excellence."

Afolabi Olayinka - Media Sales Executive, Grace and Mercy

"An intriguing experience."

Adedoyin Olubunmi – Lecturer, LASPOTTECH

"Well packaged."

Dr. Aye Henshaw – Lecturer, UNICAL

"Well planned with conducive environment."

Ademuyiwa O. Kehinde – Student, CRESCENT University

"Quite Interesting."

Haruna Ismail – Lecturer, Bayero University Kano

"The conference on the whole was well organised. However, there is room for improvement especially in the area of timing allotted to paper presentations in the syndicate session."

Dr. Gregory Ugbo – Lecturer, Afe Babalola University Ado Ekiti

"The conference raised many national issues calling for attention."

Tokunbo A. Ajayi– Professor, Joseph Ayo Babalola University

"Being my first conference outside my university, it was an adventure, beautiful and above all an educative experience."

Umami Muhammed Hassan- Asst Lecturer, Bayero University, Kano

"The organiser did a good job. The venue was well chosen and the arrangement of the topic/talks was well structured. However, time allocated to the syndicate session was inadequate.

Ideheme Omolara Oluwatoyin - DCCS

“Excellent and brilliant outing.”

Wole Adamolekun - Elizade University

“The master class was highly insightful and the conference as a whole was well packaged. Thank you.”

Olubode-Enitan Oluwaseyi - Corporate Communications, NIPOST

“The whole conference is well organised only that the time given for presentation of research paper was too short. The conference organised by ACSPN is very rich and improving yearly. Every year there is an innovative component that makes members improve and keep pace with global changes.”

Abdulmutallib A. Abubakar – Lecturer, University of Maiduguri

“Wide content options. Generally rewarding.”

Tunde Kajogbola – CEO – Grace and Mercy

“The conference is educative.”

Samuel C. Nwamini - Assistant Lecturer, Ebonyi State

“I enjoyed the whole conference only that adequate time should be given to the presentation from participants in each syndicate.”

Dr. Ashiru Tukur Inuwa – Lecturer, Bayero University Kano

“These aspects of conference are quite educative, inspiring and intellectually empowering.”

Oguntoyinbo S. Abayomi – Lecturer, Adekunle Ajasin University, Akungba

“The conference as a whole is interesting and presentations should be provided with more time.”

Abdullahi Maiwada - Nigeria Custom Service PRO Ogun Command

“It was indeed educative on the need to be a professional journalist that is responsive to the mandate of the profession.”

Yusuf Ganiyu – Reporter, OGTV

"An informative and educative conference. It shed light on the areas to improve in the media."

G. Ifeoluwa - Reporter, OGTV

"Nice and educative."

Adeola A. Oyedele – Student, CRESCENT University

"Reader Impressive, scholarly and commendable."

Ngozi Anyachonkeya - Akanu ibian Federal polytechnic, Unwana, Ebonyi state

"So far, it's been an enjoyable experience."

Dr. Joshua Kayode Okunade - Senior Lecturer/Head, Dept. of Mass Communication, Caleb University Imota Lagos.

"Very educative."

Adeleye Adejoke Monsurat – Reporter, PM news/The News

"So far so good."

Prof. Bayo Oloyede - Dean Mgt and Social Sciences, Redeemer's University, Ede.

"Very good."

Jimoh Fathia Abiodun – Reporter, Casefire

"It's a good conference. It presents a gathering of scholars and professionals from across Nigeria to deliberate on important issues."

Ibrahim Siraj - Lecturer, Bayero University, Kano

"Very Educative"

Adebukola Toluwalope Okuneye – News Editor/Reporter, Family FM 88.5

"Interesting and Educative."

Saheed Adeola – Reporter, Fresh FM 107.9

“The entire programme was well articulated motivating, creative and encourage the audience to have real journalism practice instead of mere academic journalism.”

Dr. Samuel I. Ezema - Member ACSPN/ Lecturer, IMT Enugu

“Beautiful outing. Attendance was slow but was eventually well attended.”

Margaret Agada-Mba - Adjunct Faculty, Pan Atlantic University

“The conference as a whole is superb. Thumbs up to ACSPN.”

Badmus Idowu Rasheed- Postgraduate Student, University of Ilorin

“It is amazing.”

Aondover Eric Msushter - Student, Bayero University, Kano

“This is actually the best of its kind. ACSPN conference is a place to be. I can't miss it for anything next year. Keep promoting the gospel of communication.”

Odoyi Carol Dixon- Doctoral Candidate, University of Port Harcourt (UPH), Rivers state, Nigeria.

“Well organised and timely but information on the conference came rather late.”

Remi R. Aduradola - Reader/Lecturer, Communication and Gender studies Dept., Federal University of Agriculture

“The conference is very inspiring.”

Toyosi Olugbenga Owolabi – Lecturer, LASU

“Beneficial and very educating.”

Ogundipe Olarewaju – President, Leads Communication